

ROANOKE VALLEY PRESERVATION FOUNDATION, INC. HISTORIC PLAQUE PROGRAM APPLICATION

Historic buildings and homes in the Roanoke area can now be recognized under the Roanoke Valley Preservation Foundation, Inc.'s Historic Plaque Program. This program not only brings 'history to the streets' for those passing by but also serves to 'brand' historic buildings as a desirable location for owners and tenants thereby increasing property values and occupancy.

Historically 'branding' your home or building helps others understand its historical significance to your neighborhood, your community and our valley. Plaques are 10" x 7" cast bronze ovals with brown pebbled backgrounds forged by Paul W. Zimmerman Foundries (responsible for casting most National Register of Historic Places plaques across the country).

Several sites around the city have been recipients of this plaque including Roanoke's Fire Station No. 1, the Virginia Museum of Transportation (Norfolk & Western Freight Station), the Roanoke Municipal Building and Roanoke's Old Southwest neighborhood homeowner Bill Joyce at 511 Day Avenue SW.

Program Overview:

The cost per plaque is $350 and includes research for the text to be used on the plaque that includes the building's historic name, brief description and construction date, the plaque's production, shipping, local government regulatory approvals, and installation.
